

The Sterillo. The world's most hygienic hand dryer.

Washroom facilities shouldn't only look clean, they should smell fresh and protect users from the many millions of harmful bacteria that float in the air and which can cause serious health epidemics. The Sterillo is the first and only hand dryer available that removes germs from bathroom air. When it's not drying hands, the Sterillo silently and continuously draws in bathroom air. It then treats the air with the same germicidal light commonly used to sanitise hospitals and care homes. The UVC light renders germs unable to perform vital cellular functions, killing them off
